

The Final Hand

When Fate deals the hand you have no choice but to go all in. The old Horner bank building is about to be demolished until a ghostly presence alters the course of events. Jack, Sam, and Renes lives begin to unravel after finding a worn leather journal from the 1920s, a journal belonging to a reluctant mobster, a man who finds himself thrust into the seedy underbelly of the Prohibition era. In it he details his ordeal and a curse that has altered time forever. He crosses paths with Charles, a vicious gangster whose blood lust and hunger for power lure him down a dark road to control the curse and manipulate time. The rough ride he takes will change his life forever as well as those of people in the future. Can things be set right or has Fate dealt the final hand? A ruthless 1920s mobster, a level headed accountant from 1986, and a playboy project manager from 2007 become entangled in a series of bizarre ghostly events that distort the boundaries of reality and time. To Charles killing people was just part and parcel for the life of a 1920s gangster. That is until somebody tries to take him down. If only he could see it coming or did he? A deja vu event sets him to question if time could be manipulated. Tim was often accused of having his head in the past, collecting all kinds of twenties memorabilia. He was particularly fascinated with the 1920s, however becoming a gangster wasnt what he had in mind. Reality sure didnt mesh up with the allure of his imagination. Jack is a hard living young womanizer whose life is suddenly turned upside down after a new job forces him to relocate from New York to Minneapolis, where he encounters a new love, old friends, and an ancient curse. The discovery of an old journal from a 1920s mobster may hold some of the clues. Jack will have to attempt to put the pieces together in order to fix his unraveling life.
